

ABSTRACT

The present application relates to an insect resistant transgenic cotton event designated COT202 plant. In particular, it relates to a specific event, designated COT202. The application also relates to polynucleotides which are characteristic of the COT202 event, plants comprising said the polynucleotides, and methods of detecting the COT202 event.